

MANY WEDDINGS OF NOTE SET FOR MAY

st. gave a luncheon of sixteen covers on Tuesday.

The special feature of the reception which Mrs. William H. Good is to give next Thursday afternoon at the Brooklyn Woman's Club, 114 Pierpoint st., will be the appearance of the three Misses Fuller, of England, in a costume song recital.

The hostess will be assisted in receiving by her sisters, the Misses Campbell; Mrs. Walter St. John Benedict, Mrs. Theodore L. Frothingham, Mrs. Herbert Howard Knox, Mrs. Charles Scudder Pool, Mrs. George S. Frank, Mrs. Albert L. Mason, Mrs. Winthrop Murray Tuttle, Mrs. John Clapperton Kerr, Mrs. Frank Day Tuttle, Miss Sophie Haxtum, Miss Nina Almirall, Miss Nina Perry and Miss Mabel Simpson.

To further the interests of the Girls' Branch of the Public Schools Athletic League on this side of the river a meeting will be held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Sidney V. Lowell, 164 Columbia Heights. The speakers will be Miss Elizabeth Burchenal and Dr. Luther H. Gulick. Mrs. John Garrett Underhill is treasurer of the league, and other Brooklyn women on the board of directors are Mrs. Herbert Lee Pratt, Mrs. Thomas R. French and Miss Mary M. Orr.

Mrs. William Pittman Earle, Jr., has issued cards for Saturday, May 9, when she will be at home between the hours of 4 and 7 o'clock at 62A Eastern Parkway. Mrs. Earle before her wedding last October, was Miss Genevieve Beavers.

Mrs. Thomas Lonsdale Leeming, of 94 Eighth ave., gave a house dance on Saturday evening for her young daughter, Miss Helen Schuyler Leeming. Spring flowers decorated the Leeming home. The dance was held between the hours of 8 and 10 o'clock.

Mrs. Charles L. Woody, of 162 East 15th st., gave a bridge of ten tables at her home on Thursday afternoon. The prizes were a sandwich set, a silver deposit basket, cream and sugar set, a Haviland china cheese platter and a large cut glass flower holder.

One of the largest spring weddings was that of Miss Millicent Crafts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Young Crafts, and John Christopher Meyer, which took place on Monday in the First Presbyterian Church. The ceremony was followed by a reception at the Heights Casino.

For the benefit of the Ridgewood Day Nursery Mrs. Clarence Walton Vail will give a large bridge next Saturday at her home, 238 Garfield Place. Play will begin at 10:30 o'clock, but the guests may arrive at any time and make up their own tables. A buffet luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock. Tickets are $1.

Miss Beatrice Stevens gave a thé dancant last week for the members of her class, Berkeley, 14. Pink roses and ferns were used in the decorations, and the members of the receiving party wore corsage bouquets of pink roses and pink sweetpeas.

In compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Julius Meyer, who are going abroad for an extensive trip next week, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Moore, of Manhattan, gave a dinner dance at the Plaza on Friday evening.

Mrs. J. Elliot Langstaff, of 19 Seventh ave., gave a reception on Friday afternoon in honor of Mrs. R. Frederick Yorke, the visiting representative of the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire. Invitations were limited to the officers and members of the order.

Mrs. Hamlin Felder Owen, of Havana, Cuba, and Brooklyn, announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Ethel M. Baldwin, to William Edwin Rawlinson, of 34 Cumberland st.

TWO BIG EVENTS AT CAPITAL THIS WEEK

Outsiders' Interest Will Centre on White House Wedding and Horse Show.

(From The Tribune Bureau.)

Washington, May 2.—The attention of the outer world will be centred on two great events in the capital during the coming six days—the White House wedding, which has had only thirteen precedents in more than a hundred years, and the horse show.

A White House wedding naturally suggests lavender and old lace, and the traditional atmosphere will be given Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson's marriage to her father's Secretary of the Treasury, William Gibbs McAdoo, late on Thursday afternoon, by the mingling of the queens of the old-fashioned garden, like white lilacs, syringas and snowballs, with quantities of the more modern spring blossoms, such as hyacinths, lilacs-of-the-valley and snowdrops. Then up from the Southland will come orange blossoms, the natural insignia of the bride, fresh from the orange grove of the Secretary of State and Mrs. Bryan. Diplomats and others of official and resident society will accompany their good wishes with roses, lilies and orchids until on the wedding day white, figuratively speaking, from barriers will separate the outer world from the President's family, the sweet odors will pervade the atmosphere for blocks around.

The horse show will be a truly festive event for the remaining days of the week, just as it was to-day, when the boxes overlooking the flower-rimmed ring were filled with attractively dressed women in their brightest mood. Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Pell, of New York, and their two small boys, who were in the box of the president of the horse show, Colonel Robert M. Thompson and Mrs. Thompson, attracted no end of attention, and word was passed around that the boys would ride their own ponies. Representative and Mrs. Peter Goelet Gerry had Mrs. Richard H. Townsend, Miss Gerry and others in their box, while the Larz Anderson, the Boardman, the Edward Beale McLean, the William Hitt and other boxes each contained an array of brilliantly gownned women.

Dinner parties and several interesting weddings filled the seven days just past, and, while only a family party and a few quite intimate friends witnessed the marriage of Señora Amparo Rivero and Thomas Nelson Randall, on Thursday afternoon, it was one of the most beautifully arranged weddings of the week. The illness of the Cuban Minister—father of the bride—who was some time ago relieved of his duties in this country and appointed Minister to Italy, prevented the large affair which the popularity of the young bride warranted. As it was, Señor Don Manuel de la Vega Calderon, first secretary and chargé d'affaires for Cuba, and Señora Calderon, the daughter of the Bolivian Minister, were almost the only representatives of the Diplomatic Corps present. The white satin prie-dieu upon which the bride couple knelt had clusters of orange blossoms at either end, and these significant blossoms also formed a part of the improvised altar decoration back of them. Announcement cards were sent to the host of friends of the minister's family and that of the bridegroom, who is a Virginian of long lineage.

The Russian Ambassador and Mme. Bakmeteff, who intended definitely to go to Newport quite early in the season, tentatively changed their plans on account of the talk of visit of Queen Eleanor of Bulgaria. Now that war talk has grown serious, the Queen may not come at all. The intimacy of the Queen and Mme. Bakmeteff is so great that, even should not the pleasant rumor to the effect that, with her extensive suite, she will be a guest at the embassy materialize, there would at least be one or two stately entertainments there for her. It will be too bad if Washington society must forego the novelty of having a real royal "drawing-room" right here in the capital of the greatest of the republics.

Another royal visitor will leave these shores within two weeks, after having enjoyed a season of pink wigs, tango dances and bizarre dinner parties while he travelled as a private citizen. Prince Munster has proved himself a truly great personage by his simplicity of manner and his intense interest in everything. While the guest of the Austro-Hungarian Ambassador in his simple official home he has gone about the streets of Washington in the most democratic manner, looking into government institutions, smiling at some of our social customs and taking part in many of our most progressive movements. The prince has gone to New York to be entertained until he sails, on May 15, after having been entertained here by the French Ambassador, the German Ambassador, Mrs. Richard H. Townsend, Miss Cameron and a host of others, besides mingling with society generally at many dances.

The Marquis Cusani Confaloni, who still remains in this country as the representative of Italy, probably will leave the country on the arrival of the new counselor, Chevalier Riccardo Borghetti, the successor of Giuseppe Catalini, who has been appointed to a new post. Chevalier Borghetti is an experienced diplomat and will be chargé d'affaires until the new ambassador, Viscount Celleri, arrives. The Marquis Cusani will leave behind him many warm friends, especially in the world of art and letters. One of his marks of appreciation of American talent was in the decoration recently bestowed upon Hobart Chaffield Taylor by King Victor in recognition of his services to Italian literature in the United States by his work on Goldoni. The King made Mr. Taylor commander of the Order of Saints Maurizio and Lazzaro through the kindly intercession of his friend, the Marquis Cusani.

One of the interesting official-social affairs of the week was that of Tuesday night, when Representative and Mrs. Dunn, of New York, took the New York delegation in Congress to Dover House, in Maryland, for dinner and a dance. The party went by automobile and enjoyed one of the old Maryland dinners of corn bread and fried chicken for which the place is famous. Miss Dunn has gone to New York to stay for two weeks with her aunt, Mrs. Joseph Osler, on Riverside Drive.

The Dean of the Diplomatic Corps and Mme. Jusserand, the Russian Ambassador and Mme. Bakmeteff and the British Ambassador and Lady Spring-Rice were all hosts for dinner parties during the week, while the Austrian Ambassador followed his usual custom and asked various men to dine with him informally.

Departures for Europe have begun already. Mrs. Thomas F. Walsh will go to New York on Monday to join Miss Lota Robinson and proceed to Europe for some months of travel. Mrs. Walsh has taken a long lease on the Lathrop residence, at the intersection of Columbia Road and Connecticut ave., and will spend next season there.

Miss Wilson is interested in the Needlework Guild of America, which meets here on Miss Eleanor Wilson's wedding day, and though the excitement incident to the wedding will naturally preclude her attendance on that day she will undoubtedly meet the 20 delegates at the Raleigh at one of their sessions. Mrs. Wilson is honorary president of the District of Columbia branch of the guild, and Miss Mabel Boardman is one of the vice-presidents. The national officers include Mrs. Levi P. Morton, who has just closed her house here and gone to New York; Mrs. Truman H. Newberry, who will preside over the business meetings, and Mrs. Oscar Underwood. This guild has 371 branches and within a year has distributed 574,000 garments. The guild is affiliated with the Red Cross and its members will undoubtedly have to ply their needles in lively manner for the Mexicans who may fall in line with the American custom of wearing actual clothes.

The Horse Show will fill the next six days with dozens of impromptu dinner parties. Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds Hitt have issued cards for the week end, when they will entertain with a dinner and dance. Mrs. Alfred E. Bates will entertain a dinner party on Thursday night. Mr. and Mrs. William Hitt, Representative and Mrs. Peter Gerry and Colonel and Mrs. Robert M. Thompson will also entertain.

DUCHESS PLANS A STAY AT NEWPORT

Her Grace of Marlborough Expects to Spend a Portion of Summer at Marble House.

Newport, R. I., May 2.—No piece of news has been more pleasing to the social colony here in a long while than was the announcement this week that the Duchess of Marlborough was to spend some time here during the summer.

That the announcement is authentic there is no question, for it came from the mother of the duchess, Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, who has been here recently inspecting and making arrangements for the opening of her summer home, Marble House, which was closed last summer while Mrs. Belmont was abroad.

The duchess has not been here in at least four years, and she will probably find herself in the centre of a whirl of entertaining in her honor soon after her arrival, for among the summer colonists she has many friends. She is due to arrive some time in July, and is expected to remain here for at least a month or more as the guest of Mrs. Belmont at Marble House.

Like her mother, the duchess is more or less interested in the woman suffrage movement, and at least one address by her is expected while she is in Newport. This will be made at the dedication of a new Chinese tea house which Mrs. Belmont has had erected on the cliff side lawn of her estate.

This is perhaps the oddest house here. It is the reproduction of some native Chinese house, and Mrs. Belmont will have spent a small fortune in its erection and equipment when it is all completed. While here she had a chance to inspect the place and to make arrangements for its completion in time for the opening of her season, which will be probably some time in June.

All indications seem to point to an early opening of the summer season here this year. It appears now that more of the prominent cottagers have made arrangements for the opening of their villas and cottages earlier than for some years past. Some of the houses are already in the course of opening, and others will be started within a short time.

Mrs. William Watts Sherman has already arrived for the season at her Shepard ave. estate, and her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence L. Gillespie, of New York, are at their Bellevue ave. home, though probably not permanently. They have made two or three visits there since the closing of the season last fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Coit Josephs are back from their winter in Baltimore, and the summer homes of former Senator and Mrs. George Peabody Wetmore and former Commodore and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt are being prepared for occupancy. The former are expected in a short time, and Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt, who were absent last summer, will, it is said, come here much earlier than has been their custom in the past.

Mr. and Ellsha Dyer are returning from abroad in time to be among the May arrivals, and the June arrivals, according to announcements during the week, will include Mr. and Mrs. James B. Haggin, who are having Villa Rosa arranged, and State Senator and Mrs. R. Livingston Beckman.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. A. Clark, of New York, are due the first of the week, and Mrs. William Grosvenor, of Providence, expects to open Roslyn on May 15. Lispenard Stewart, who inspected his summer home, White Lodge, during the week, will open it for the season the latter part of May, and Mrs. Hamilton McK. Twombly and daughter, Miss Ruth Twombly, who are at present at their country home at Madison, N. J., will open Vinland about July 1.

Mr. and Mrs. William Payne Thompson are coming back from Europe in time to open their summer home in June, and Mr. and Mrs. Pembroke Jones and Mrs. Richard Gambrell, who have recently sailed for the "other side," will also return in time to be at their estates here early.

Word has come from Florida that two of the Newport families who always spend the cold months on the Southern seashore are returning within a short time. They are Captain and Mrs. Hugh L. Willoughby and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Quentin Jones. Among other May arrivals expected are Mrs. J. J. Post, Mr. and Mrs. Frank K. Sturgis and Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Post.

Mr. and Mrs. Tompkins McIlwaine, of New York, have taken the cottage of Mrs. H. G. Wilks, on Everett st.; Robert K. Cassatt, of Philadelphia, will have the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. James F. D.

Another of the Ochre Point colony, Mrs. Vanderbilt, will not go abroad this summer, as was stated some time ago. According to what has been heard here she is to return to The Breakers here for the entire summer.

SIGNS OF ACTIVITY NOW AT LENOX

Many Summer Residents Are Opening Places Earlier Than Usual.

Lenox, May 2.—Twelve large estates have been opened this week, and mid-May will see fully fifty of the largest places occupied. The cottagers are coming to Lenox earlier than ever before. Among the arrivals were Mr. and Mrs.

Newbold Morris, Miss Kate Cary, Grandville L. Winthrop, George Pollock and Mr. and Mrs. George W. Folson. Mr. J. Frederick Schenck, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Blake and Mr. and Mrs. David T. Dana had previously opened their country places.

Mrs. Morris K. Jesup will open Belvoir Terrace in the middle of the month. Mr. and Mrs. George E. Turnure are coming up to Bearpore shortly. Charles Astor Bristed is at Lakeside and Mrs. Bristed and the Misses Bristed will join him there very soon.

Mrs. Frank K. Sturgis is expected at Clifton Grange about May 20. Mr. and Mrs. Giraud Foster will open Belvoir fountain on June 1. Miss Olivia E. Phelps Stokes, who has bought Under Lodge, the country place of Mrs. Joseph W. Borden, is expected shortly.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Parsons will go to Rye, N. Y., for May, and will occupy Stoneover on June 1. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Parsons will be in their country place, Stoneover Farm, before Memorial Day.

Other May arrivals will be Miss Adeline Kneeland, Mr. and Mrs. Harris Faber.
